Willamette River clean up efforts - need them now!

To ☐ HarborComments

I am writing to protest the current "plan" provided by the EPA to (so call) clean up the pollution in the Willamette River. My family and I live in Portland and spend a significant time outdoors enjoying our natural and abundant wildlife and waterways. My son is in middle school and has enjoyed school trips to explore the river and its diversity - I hate to think those opportunities would be even more limited.

Especially given all the recent environmental news and initiatives I would expect the city to catch a break and see positive results not more negative and hazardous to our health.

So many of our attractions in Portland and the resulting economic growth are driven by the opportunity to enjoy the willamette River through education, local food seasonal, festivals and the like.

Please reconsider your timeline and priorities to focus more on conserving and truly cleaning up one of our great natural resources in Portland!

Thank you!
